Johnson To Follow Kennedy's Ideals; Urges Early Action On Rights, Tax Cut

Ruby's Trial Seen Likely In 2 Weeks

Indicted In Slaying Of President's Accused Assassin

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby, who shot the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy as thousands watched on television, may go to trial on a murder charge within two weeks.

County grand jurors indicted Ruby Tuesday in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald. Ruby's trial is tentatively set for Dec. 9.

Dist. Atty. Henry Wade said he will ask the death penalty.

Defense lawyer Tom Howard of Dallas said the highly emotional Ruby had settled down somewhat since the shooting in the City Hall basement as police started to move Oswald to the county jail.

"He was much more calm than he was yesterday," Howard said. "He talked in more normal tones but he is still an excitable person when he talks normally."

The lawyer said Ruby mentioned seeing a picture of Mrs. Kennedy with blood on her dress.

"Tears came to his eyes," Howard said. "He showed tremendous concern for the Kennedys."

Ruby, 52, who owns a downtown strip tease establishment and a dance hall in Dallas, told Howard he stopped Sunday at the spot where Kennedy was shot two days earlier. This was shortly before Ruby went on to the city jail where Oswald was killed.

Ruby, known to many Dallas policemen, waited outside the jail with newsmen Sunday. As Oswald was being escorted to an armored car, Ruby lunged from the crowd and fired.

Gun Accident Injures Man At Area Farm

A 46-year-old East Liverpool man was in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with a wound of the right leg suffered Tuesday about 5 p. m. when a 22-caliber revolver discharged accidentally after he finished hunting foxes on a farm on Route 170 which he operates.

Edward Casto, 726 Sophia St., told Patrolman L. E. Richard the holstered gun discharged accidentally when he began to remove it from his belt.

Casto said he had gone to his farm in the Pancake Corners area yesterday to shoot foxes which had been destroying feed in the barn on his farm. After shooting one fox, he walked to his car to go home, he related.

Casto said he was removing the holstered gun from his belt when it discharged by accident.

Casto drove his car to the nearby Pancake Service Station and told Jay Pancake of the accident. Pancake then drove Casto to the hospital.

Hospital authorities phoned Patrolman R. B. Pyle, desk officer at police headquarters, to report the wounding about 5:37 p. m.

Officer Richard then was dispatched to the hospital to investigate.

TORONTO — Keith Bryan, 25, of Route 7 remained in St. John's Hospital at Steubenville today with wounds of the face, head and chest received when accidentally shot by William Fisher of 6th St. while hunting Tuesday morning near Germano in Harrison County, authorities said. The hospital said his condition was "as good as can be expected."

Ruling Eliminates Jobs

Railroads Face New Legal Snarl

WASHINGTON (AP) — The long strike-threatened railroad dispute rolled toward the courts today and a new legal tangle over an arbitration ruling permitting the elimination of thousands of firemen's jobs.

The ruling handed down Tuesday by a special panel, was ordered by Congress to forestall a nationwide strike last August and settle the key issues in the union-railroad struggle over work rules.

Two of the unions announced they will challenge the arbitration decision and its legal basis in the courts.

Thus a new snarl appeared to be added to the four-year dispute, and negotiations on what Congress figured were secondary also have bogged down. Each side blamed the other for the lack of progress in the talks, which cover such matters as wages.

The arbitration board had two issues to deal with—the firemen's jobs and the size of train crews.

It ruled that the carriers can gradually eliminate as unnecessary 90 per cent of the firemen on diesel freight and yard engines—about 30,000 jobs.

The train crew issue was turned back to the parties for further negotiations. The board, however, provided machinery for binding decisions on a local basis, supervised by the National Mediation Board, in situations where agreements can't be reached.

The arbitration award, as Congress wrote the law, would be binding for two years.

But other provisions of the law expire Feb. 25 and could lead to a new strike threat if there is no agreement on other issues such as wages.

Union spokesman H. E. Gilbert said the railroads' proposal to "cut pay 33 1/3 per cent" by changing the wage structure is not a secondary issue to the unions.

Congress left wages and some proposed work rules changes to be settled by negotiations between the unions and the 195 railroads involved in the dispute.

Gilbert told J. E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator, he hoped Wolfe would now "get down to negotiations" to eliminate any renewal of a strike threat.

Wolfe replied that if the unions did not cooperate in the negotiations, "we will be back where we were in August with the nation disturbed."

Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and Wolfe are members of the arbitration board.

Day He Suffered Heart Attack

President Isn't Likely To Forget July 2, 1955

WASHINGTON (AP)—It isn't likely that President Johnson ever will forget that July day in 1955 as his car rolled through the Virginia countryside.

He had been working hard. As majority leader of the Senate under a Republican president, he was known as a master persuader.

Already there was talk about the Democratic nomination for president.

Now—on this Saturday, July 2, he was bound for the Middleburg, Va., home of a friend. Suddenly it came—the severe pain in the chest.

There was the emergency examination by a local doctor who diagnosed a heart attack, then the quick trip to the Naval hospital in Bethesda, Md., and the life-saving work of doctors. A few days later, a fellow senator said doctors told him the 46-year-old Johnson had almost died. "The first few hours were extremely serious."

During his convalescence, the senator was probably a model patient.

He accepted the facts of the case well and did something about them. A chain-smoker, he quit smoking. Weighing about 220 pounds, he dieted—and in a few months was down to about 175.

His convalescence progressed from the hospital to his Washington home to his Texas ranch.

At his ranch, he began a careful regimen of exercise—short walks morning and afternoon.

Doctors then set about redesigning the life of Lyndon Johnson. (Turn to HEALTH, Page 5)

U.S. Colonel Kidnaped In Venezuela

Four Armed Men Abduct Officer, Pentagon Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The assistant chief of the U.S. Army mission in Venezuela, Col. Jam K. Chenault, was kidnaped at gunpoint this morning by four armed men in Caracas.

The Pentagon, in announcing this, said Chenault was on the way from his home to headquarters of the army mission in Caracas when his official car was stopped by the kidnapers and he was removed from it.

This occurred about 7 a.m. At about 9:30 a.m., the Pentagon said, the U.S. Embassy in Caracas received a phone call from a Spanish-speaking man who said in effect, "don't worry about Col. Chenault; the kidnaping was for propaganda purposes only."

Ex-Constable Hurt In One Of 5 Crashes

A former St. Clair Township police constable was in "good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered in an auto mishap near Glenmoor early this morning — one of five crashes Tuesday and today.

John Jackson, 42, of R. D. 2 suffered abrasions of the left knee and left leg when his 1958 sedan veered off a curve of the Y. & O. Rd. and struck two trees about 12:10 a. m., the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

He was headed southeast when the car left the roadway and hit the trees about 30 feet away, causing about $750 damage to the auto. Officers are still investigating the crash.

Chalmer Webber, 58, of New Waterford R. D. was cited this morning after a collision at the intersection of State St. and E. Main St. at 6:45 a. m.

Officers said Webber did not stop for a traffic signal, and his car was struck by one operated by Melvin Kiehl, 25, of Rogers R. D. Webber was charged with failure to halt for a signal. He was treated by a physician for a shoulder bruise.

Two Salineville women and two youngsters escaped injury when their car struck guardrails along Route 38 just east of Salineville yesterday at 12:30 p. m.

The patrol said Mrs. Betty Jean Smith, 21, of 8 Sycamore St., reached for a toy on the floor of the car, and the auto left the road. Mrs. Luezanee Sumner, 65, of Academy St. and Mrs. Smith's children, Vicki Lynn, 5, and Ronda Jean, 6 months, were unhurt.

Robert Andreas, 55, of New Philadelphia was taken to Salem City Hospital after his car ran off Route 517 six miles east of Lisbon Tuesday, struck a utility pole and overturned.

His 1960 auto was almost demolished, the patrol said. Andreas, who suffered multiple bruises and abrasions and a slight concussion, was charged with speeding.

Donald Adams, 20, of 2237 Pennsylvania Ave. Ext. escaped injury when his car struck a deer crossing Route 14 about a mile west of Route 7. About $200 damage resulted to the car. The deer was killed, officers said.

Heavy Hearts, Prayerful Resolve

U.S. Awaits Thanksgiving Still Mourning President

By The Associated Press
With heavy hearts and prayerful resolve, Americans prepare to observe Thanksgiving Day, while still mourning the death of President John F. Kennedy.

"Our President's death has created an empty place at every dinner table," said a New Yorker busily shopping for Thursday's dinner.

The "empty place" is surely to be more keenly felt at Hyannis Port, Mass., where the Kennedy family will gather.

Mrs. Kennedy, the President's widow, has announced plans to fly to Hyannis Port Thanksgiving Day with her two children.

Perhaps the nation's mood was best summed up by the Rev. John W. Regan, a curate at St. Francis Xavier church in Hyannis Port, when he said last Sunday:

Thanksgiving Programs Set Tonight, Thursday

Christians of the East Liverpool area will have ample opportunity tonight and Thursday to express their thanks to God for an abundant harvest and freedom of worship in traditional Thanksgiving services. A number of joint programs are planned.

Communities, led by their ministerial associations, will hold union services in one of their neighborhood churches. Choral groups will present appropriate music.

MASSES will be celebrated at area Catholic churches Thanksgiving morning. St. Aloysius will have Masses at 7, 8, and 9; Chester Sacred Heart, 7:30; Immaculate Conception at Wellsville, 9; Midland Presentation, 7 and 7:30, and St. Christine Mission in Ohio View, 8.

St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, of which the Rev. Charles Kampmeyer is pastor, will be the scene of the Community Thanksgiving Day service tomorrow at 10 a. m. for the downtown congregations. The East Liverpool Ministerial Association is the sponsoring group.

THE SPEAKER will be the Rev. C. G. Schlosser, new minister of the First Church of the Nazarene.

The Wellsville Ministerial Association is sponsoring two public services. One will be held tonight at 8 at the Bethel Methodist Church, with the Rev. James McCollam of the Yellow Creek United Presbyterian Church as the speaker.

The other service will be held

"Here in America, this Thanksgiving will be different. This year, as the Pilgrims did, we will turn again to God. We have a great deal to be thankful for—the men who fought and died for us in the hot wars and in the cold war. We should be grateful for the great men God has given us."

President Johnson has urged that the Thanksgiving proclamation issued by President Kennedy Nov. 5 be read in churches Thursday.

The proclamation said in part:

"on that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist."

President and Mrs. Johnson plan to have a family dinner at their home in Washington. Their daughters, Lynda Bird and Lucy will be there and so will Lynda's fiancé, Bernard Rosenbach.

In Massachusetts, the traditional Pilgrim progress observance at Plymouth will pay tribute to two assassinated presidents—Kennedy in a special memorial service, and Lincoln, on the 100th anniversary of his proclamation making Thanksgiving a national holiday for the first time.

Judge Grants Release To 2 In County Jail

A West End man and a Wellsville resident walked out of Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff's courtroom this morning into the crisp November air, free for the first time since July.

Judge Chertoff granted releases to Herbert Virgil Mellott, 21, of W. 8th St. and George Crawford, 29, of Commerce St., Wellsville, each of whom had served more than four months in County Jail on sentences imposed on unrelated misdemeanors or cases.

Police records show Mellott was arrested July 6 on W. 8th St. by Patrolman Howard Frontz on charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and operating an auto without a driver's license.

Later accused of damaging plumbing in a City Jail cell, Mellott also was charged with malicious destruction of property.

Court records show Crawford was arrested July 14 by Patrolman Paul E. Carter on a series of four charges — improper license plates; driving after his operator's permit had been suspended; operating a motor vehicle without a certificate of title registered in his name, and failure to apply for a certificate of title.

In response to a query, Judge Chertoff said there was no connection between Thanksgiving Eve and the release of the two men. However, he said he had learned that one of the defendants became a father Sunday.

Mellott had been sentenced to 30-day terms on the property

Makes Plea For End To Hate, Evil

No Time For Delay, But For Action, He Says In Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told the nation and the world today that the ideas and ideals of John F. Kennedy "must and will be translated into effective action."

The new President appealed at the same time for "an end to the teaching and preaching of hate and evil and violence."

In a 1,500-word address prepared for a joint session of the Senate and House, Johnson specifically called for early congressional action to set up new civil rights safeguards and enact an $11-billion tax cut.

"No memorial oration or eulogy, could more eloquently honor President Kennedy's memory than the earliest possible passage of the civil rights bill for which he fought," Johnson said.

And he said, "No act of ours could more fittingly continue the work of President Kennedy than the earliest passage of the tax bill for which he sought."

The new chief executive said: "This is no time for delay—it is a time for action."

Johnson opened his address by saying:

"All I have I would have given gladly not to be standing here today."

Johnson, who called the assassination of President Kennedy "the foulest deed of our time," declared that Kennedy must be commemorated in actions.

"Our most immediate tasks," Johnson said, "are here on this hill," meaning in Congress.

Johnson appealed for United effort by a nation that goes forward "in action, in tolerance and mutual understanding." In

Senate Group Begins Probe Of Slaying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee, reportedly in cooperation with the Justice Department, has launched an investigation into the assassination of President Kennedy.

Sources in a position to know said that the Justice Department already has begun funneling information from FBI agents to the committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, top GOP member of the committee, told newsmen he expected public hearings next month before Congress takes a Christmas recess.

Dirksen told the Senate Tuesday night that a full-scale investigation by the Judiciary Committee had been approved by Senate leaders of both parties.

The inquiry will cover not only the assassination of Kennedy last Friday as he rode in a motorcade through Dallas, but also the subsequent slaying of Lee Harvey Oswald, the ac-

Dedication Of Post Office Is Postponed

Dedication of Wellsville's new $120,000 Post Office scheduled for Sunday afternoon has been postponed indefinitely.

Postmaster E. J. Evans received word late Tuesday afternoon from Cincinnati that the ceremony has been postponed because of the death of President Kennedy and the inability of Rep. Wayne L. Hays to attend.

The Wellsville Chamber of Commerce was sponsoring the dedication to have been held at the Daw Junior High School auditorium. Open house was to have been observed at the new facility.

Evans said he was notified of the cancellation by William J. Rahter, assistant regional director.

Meanwhile, the installation of new Christmas decorations at Wellsville has been delayed, according to Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare. He pointed out the city crews did not work Monday and will be off again Thursday for Thanksgiving.

Johnson

one of his most emotional passages Johnson asserted:

"The time has come for Americans of all races and creeds and political beliefs to understand and respect one another. Let us put an end to the teaching and preaching of hate and evil and violence. Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

Johnson expressed the hope that "the tragedy and torment of these terrible days will bind us together in new fellowship."

"Let us here highly resolve," he said, "that John Fitzgerald Kennedy did not live or die in vain. And on this Thanksgiving eve, as we gather together to ask the Lord's blessing let us unite in those familiar and cherished words: 'America, America, God shed his grace on thee and crown thy good with brotherhood from sea to shining sea.'"

Johnson, the first southern president since Andrew Johnson succeeded the assassinated Abraham Lincoln, left no doubt about his commitment to the cause of civil rights.

"We have talked long enough in this country about equal rights," he said. "We have talked for 100 years or more. Yes, it is time now to write the next chapter—and to write it in the books of law."

Johnson called upon the Congress to enact a civil rights bill that will help "eliminate from this nation every trace of discrimination and oppression based upon race or color."

He said there could be no greater source of strength to the nation both at home and abroad.

Touching upon foreign affairs, Johnson promised the United States "will keep its commitments from South Viet Nam to West Berlin." He added:

"We will be unceasing in the search for peace; resourceful in our pursuit of areas of agreement even with those with whom we differ; and generous and loyal to those who join with us in common cause."

He said "those who test our courage will find it strong and those who seek our friendship will find it honorable."

In a general assertion of foreign policy, Johnson said:

"Let all the world know, and not misunderstand, that I re-dedicate this government to the unswerving support of the United Nations—to the honorable and determined execution of our commitments to our allies—to the maintenance of military strength second to none—to the defense of the strength and stability of the dollar—to the expansion of our foreign trade—to the reinforcement of our programs of mutual assistance and cooperation in Asia and Africa—and to our Alliance For Progress in this hemisphere."

Truck Driver Chased, Cited

A Youngstown pickup driver who passed another vehicle at a Chester school crossing intersection was chased by police and arrested this morning on Carolina Ave.

Joseph Michael Pashkowski, 21, posted a $30.50 bond for a hearing Monday before Mayor Harry Abrams on a charge of hazardous driving.

Police Chief Clarence Lennens said Pashkowski, headed east on Carolina Ave. passed another vehicle at 6th St. at 7:50 a. m., traveling about 30 miles an hour.

Chief Lennens, standing at the curb to watch the some 150 youngsters who cross the street to and from school daily, said he put up his hand to halt the truck driver, but he continued east.

The officer jumped into his parked cruiser and sped after the truck, apprehending the driver about a half block away, he said.

Chief Lennens warned all motorists to be especially careful at the intersection, the hazard of which was discussed at a recent Council meeting. The chief emphasized traffic laws will be strictly enforced at the site.

FBI Chief's Report

Due On Assassination

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas News said today that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover is expected to make public a mass of evidence assembled by officers investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

Without naming its source, the newspaper said the White House approved a decision for the Federal Bureau of Investigation to take charge of this evidence.

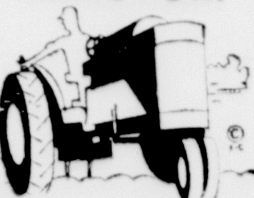

It said Hoover is expected to announce, probably this week, that:

1. The evidence shows conclusively that Lee Harvey Oswald fired the shots which killed Kennedy and seriously wounded Texas Gov. John Connally here last Friday.
2. There is no proof of a Communist conspiracy.
3. Investigators lack evidence which would prove that Oswald had help and they will remain alert for anything which would shed more light on the case.

Juvenile, 15, Held In Bell Burglary

A juvenile was taken into custody today for the burglary of the home of Columbiana County Auditor Kenneth Bell of Highland Ave., Wellsville, Monday evening.

Police Chief John Hephner said the youth, 15, picked up about 10 a. m., will be turned over to county juvenile authorities.

About $50 in cash, including some old coins, was taken. All the money was recovered, police said.

Police received a lead in the case yesterday.

The family was not home at the time of the burglary, but discovered the loss when they returned.

A rear door window had been broken to gain entrance. The money was taken from various places throughout the home.

Giving Thanks is the first American Tradition

Thanksgiving was the first holiday to be celebrated in our country, and it remains a unique American festival. On Thanksgiving Day our differences fade when, with a common inspiration, we look upwards to express our gratitude for the richness of our land and the freedom of our lives. We have come far since those first bleak Pilgrim days. We have so much to be thankful for. This Thanksgiving, let us remember the past while we pray for the future.

Kennedy Wanted Him As Running Mate

Phone Call Led Johnson To Nation's Top Office

To Lyndon Baines Johnson, the presidency of the United States came suddenly and shockingly on a sunny afternoon last week. But for most of his life he had been preparing for leadership. In the first of three articles spotlighting the new President, Relman Morin, Associated Press' Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter, relates how a telephone call on July 24, 1960, summoned the Texas senator to become the Democratic candidate for vice president — a call that led him to the nation's highest office.

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — At 8 o'clock on the morning of July 14, 1960, a ringing telephone summoned Lyndon Baines Johnson to his moment of destiny.

The call came from John F. Kennedy. A day earlier, Kennedy had defeated Johnson for the Democratic nomination for president. Now he said he wanted to talk with Johnson, but he didn't say why.

Two hours later, in Suite 7334, the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, Kennedy asked Johnson to take second place on the ticket.

The vice presidency? Second place?

Johnson is a proud, dynamic, driving man.

Moreover, as Senate majority leader—and an incredibly successful one—he commanded enormous power, far greater than that invested in the office of vice president.

"Once there were two brothers," said Thomas R. Marshall, vice president to Woodrow Wilson. "One ran away to sea, the other was elected vice president, and nothing was ever heard of either of them again."

But Johnson arouses strong loyalties in others, and he gives his in full measure.

His own chances for the presidency were gone. If Kennedy won, the opportunity probably would not return again until 1968, when he would be 60. He knew the degree of his importance, for eight years, would be determined by Kennedy. As a politician, he also knew that Kennedy needed help in carrying the South, and as a Southerner, that he could provide the political muscle.

And so he accepted second place. He told Kennedy that, henceforth, "LBJ" would signify "Let's Back Jack."

At 2:39 p. m. last Friday — three years, four months, and eight days later—Lyndon Baines Johnson was sworn in as the 36th President of the United States.

He is the eighth vice president to be elevated to the White House through the death of a chief executive.

What manner of man is he? Let him profile himself. He once said:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator and a Democrat in that order. I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a businessman, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be, nor as old as I expect to be —and I am all those things in no fixed order."

He could have added that he is the descendant of Baptist preachers and educators, and that he has been a schoolteacher, a law student, a congressional secretary, a farm hand, a road worker, a janitor, a truck driver, a dishwasher, and a Navy lieutenant commander who received the Silver Star from Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

He has two dominant qualities —energy and focus.

As a senator, Johnson worked 14 and 16 hours a day. His day started at 6:30 a.m. with coffee, the New York and Washington newspapers, and the Congressional Record.

He would go to his office at 8, sometimes dictating to a secretary in the car.

In a day, it was not uncommon for him to receive 70 callers, 650 letters, 500 telephone calls. How does anyone know?

His staff maintained a chart, a kind of box score, that showed the numbing statistics.

"Come on, let's function — let's function," he would say, when things seemed to be bogging down.

His wife, born Claudia Alta Taylor, and nicknamed "Lady

Bird" by her Negro nurse, once said of him:

"At night he comes home dog-tired. We seldom go out. Lyndon says he can't put on a black or white tie every night and still do his job."

On July 2, 1955, a heart attack felled Johnson.

He stands 6-3 and he weighed 200 pounds at the time.

Convalescing, he was ordered by his doctors to cut his weight, his habit of chain-smoking cigarettes, and his working hours.

He lost 25 pounds and stopped smoking. But he was soon back at the same working pace.

He is so focused, so highly concentrated, that when he has something on his mind he seems not to be able to leave it, even temporarily.

An incident—

This reporter went to his office one day for a prearranged interview. Johnson had just won an important objective on the Senate floor. He could not sit still. He fidgeted and twisted behind his desk.

He seemed to listen to the first question but said, "Excuse me a second." Then he placed a telephone call. When he hung up, he asked that the question be repeated. It didn't register. He already was phoning another man. Several telephone calls later, interspersed with instructions to several staff members, we got through the first question. Then I gave up, hoping for a better day.

Thus—prior to the heart attack at least—he was completely absorbed in his work. He said he had been too busy to read books, listen to music. If he went to a ball game it was "for the company."

Johnson's close friend, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., once said of him:

"Lyndon Johnson hasn't got the best mind in the Senate. He isn't the best orator. He isn't the best parliamentarian. But he is the best combination of all those qualities."

In his Senate office, Johnson had a large, framed legend which said, "You Ain't Learnin' Nothin' When You're Talkin'."

He is a good listener and he comes now to the greatest learning job in the world.

Cruiser Bids Due For Study At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Bids for the purchase or lease of a new police cruiser were taken under study by Council Tuesday night.

The Lehman Dodge agency of Lisbon submitted a bid of $1,853 for a new cruiser, while the Hart Motor Car Co. of Salineville offered a bid of a new cruiser for $2,316 or leasing of a vehicle for $135 a month.

Hart had the original lease contract for $120 a month, but boosted the lease price to $140 when the contract expired a few months ago.

The safety committee is to meet Monday to review the bids.

Two requests for street lights were received — one from Mrs. Helen James for Jefferson St. and one from Mrs. Martha Laferty for West End. Council turned down the latter request, contending lighting was adequate, but indicated there is a need for a light on Jefferson St. and will study the matter.

Mayor Stanley Fitch said use of work orders for street department projects will be resumed. Practice of using work orders through the mayor's office was suspended during his recent illness.

Councilman Donald Lewis suggested a number of trees along Main St. be removed. The solicitor is to determine if the village is responsible for such removals.

Lewis also suggested corrections be made on curbing and walks at the intersection of Route 39 and Main St., and this was referred to the street committee.

The mayor reported the use of calcium and cinders by the Ohio Highway Department for the coming winter will eliminate the need for state storage of ashes in the village. Heretofore, the village has used such ashes when they were stored on village property in an exchange agreement. Councilman Gillis Earl is to check on prices of ashes from area concerns.

The mayor said he will meet with Washington Township trustees concerning repairs needed for the bridge to the village-township dump. He will also meet with the village health committee concerning dumping of garbage at sites in the village.

A controversy over a planned erection of a fence at a Station Hill alley was referred to the street committee. It was recommended the property owners have a survey taken to fix the alley lines.

Paul Temple of the Ohio Fuel & Gas Co. said the distribution system of the utility has been transferred to the Columbia Gas Co., but no change in service or employees is expected.

It was announced the street department and Woodland Cemetery sexton will take turns firing the furnace at the fire hall until a tenant can be obtained.

The street foreman is to obtain blacktop for curbing at the Hill Store of Main St. to prevent water from entering the basement.

Lewis suggested Council study possible annexation of areas outside the village where homes have been erected. The matter is to be discussed at a later meeting.

Councilman Clyde Polen was absent. Next meeting is Dec. 9.

Barron Decrees Mourning Period For President

CHARLESTON — American and state flags will fly at half-staff at West Virginia government facilities until sundown Dec. 22 in memory of President John F. Kennedy.

Gov. W. W. Barron announced yesterday the period would be one of official mourning for Kennedy, who was assassinated Friday in Dallas.

Barron said the period of official mourning was decreed with the realization that Kennedy's life and ideals shall "for all time stand forth as a beacon to guide those who believed in freedom and peace."

He also noted the Thanksgiving holiday will be saddened by the death of Kennedy, but the governor said, "even under the weight of our profound sorrow we find much to express our gratitude."

Nobody In Kennedy's Staff Has Resigned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Tuesday that nobody in the late President John F. Kennedy's staff has wishes to continue to serve the incoming administration.

John Brittenum is the first sophomore ever to start at quarterback for a Frank Broyles' Arkansas team.

The Best Place to Buy After All

The New President

Lyndon B. Johnson, we feel sure, is aware of the irony in "discovery" of his qualifications to be president of the United States.

Commentators giving voice to the theme that the former vice president possesses everything needed to make him a well-qualified chief executive are not reporting something previously unknown.

President Johnson would be justified in smiling inwardly about this ironic circumstance in a time of national shock and grief.

It was not lack of confidence in the ability of the then leader of the Senate majority to administer government that barred him from the Democratic nomination in 1960.

It was only lack of confidence in his ability to command support at the polls.

His Texas background and his identification with the conservative wing of the Democratic party disqualified him as a vote-getter.

He was too strongly identified with the reactionary element of his party.

IN THE OPINION of the delegates, John F. Kennedy—whose ability to administer government was untested—was the party's best hope for victory. He could get the votes.

The tall senator from Texas, the powerful figure who, wags said, had been the strongest figure in the Eisenhower administration, due to his command of the Senate, accepted second place on the presidential ticket.

His role in the campaign was to do the very thing that had been thought of as his weakness—make a frankly regional appeal to the segregationist South. This he did with great success.

Thereafter, he all but disappeared from public view, though he was known to be in touch with all important presidential problems and to have the confidence of President Kennedy to an unusual degree.

THE NEW PRESIDENT commands unusual popular confidence.

There is a significant absence of the prayerful hope that accompanied Harry Truman's elevation to the presidency in 1945, when Americans wondered if the new executive could catch up to his responsibilities before they overwhelmed him.

Lyndon B. Johnson probably could not have commanded enough popular votes in 1960 to win the presidency and didn't command enough party votes to get the nomination.

But in this emergency, he is commanding more confidence than any other man in the Democratic party could have commanded under the circumstances.

In truth, he commands greater confidence in Congress at the outset of his service as president than was commanded by his martyred chief.

WHAT FORMERLY had been the handicap of a Southern political identity has been removed by systematic exposition of his progressive position on civil rights.

He even has had moderate success in achieving identity with the West, instead of the South.

President Johnson has the best wishes of all of us, his countrymen who now must rely on his well-seasoned judgment, his mastery of conciliation as a technique of administration and his often-demonstrated ability to get things done, which is, after all, the key to executive success.

Television's Greatest 72 Hours

Just as television acquainted millions of Americans with their 35th President, so did it intensify the grief that gripped everyone at his passing three years later.

From the first few hours of stunning disbelief through the leaden hours of mourning, the electronic medium that had made the Kennedy face and the Kennedy manner familiar in life brought something of his death home to everyone who watched.

The scenes, though fleeting in some cases, have become indelible for many of us.

THE CONFUSED, tragic moments after the assassin's bullets found their mark and the kaleidoscope effects of a camera man sprinting toward the scene of disaster while his film was running . . .

A dark arrival at a lonely air base and a new President speaking his first words to the nation . . .

A widowed First Lady, unbelievably composed, bending to her children on the steps of the White House . . .

An appalling murder of the accused assassin in the basement of the Dallas police station . . .

The mournful cortege as the caisson bearing the flag-draped casket moved slowly to the Capitol . . .

The heart-wrenching scene of mother and daughter kneeling beside the casket of husband and father . . .

The thousands who moved through the Capitol rotunda all through the night to pay final respects to their President . . .

And finally, the stately, ceremonial march to Arlington National Cemetery and the military funeral.

WE WERE on the scene for the whole national nightmare. We were on the scene in a way we could not have been had we actually taken a place among the crowds in Dallas and Washington.

There were flaws. There were embarrassing moments when normally confident commentators had to grope haltingly to fill the void. There was repetition and there was, on occasion, poor taste.

But the tragic weekend was no small challenge and, in the main, television met it superbly.

If a nation needed reassurance that it can be kept in instantaneous touch with all the events that shape man's future, it found it in the more than 72 hours that an electronic eye focused on a national tragedy.

New Order Of Succession

Confusion has been caused by references in news reports to the presidential succession after an elected vice president has become president.

The confusion stems from the fact the speaker of the House of Representatives now is next in line of succession, followed by the president pro tempore of the Senate, then by the secretaries of state, treasury, defense, the attorney general, postmaster general, secretary of the interior, agriculture, commerce and labor, in that order.

This does not mean the speaker of the House of Representatives becomes vice president when that office is vacated. It means only that he is next in line of succession, followed by the president pro tempore of the Senate — John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Carl Hayden of Arizona in the present instance.

Both officials continue to hold their positions, unless it becomes necessary for them to take the presidency. The change in succession was made on the recommendation of President Truman in 1947, who argued that no vice president who became president should name his own successor; that his immediate successor should be an elected officer of the government.

His interest was believed at the time to have been stirred by the fact Edward R. Stettinius Jr. was secretary of state and Henry Morgenthau Jr. secretary of treasury when Franklin D. Roosevelt died in 1945 and Mr. Truman became president. Neither man ever had been elected to an office. Neither had a popular following, yet they were next in line of succession to Mr. Truman under the law at that time. As soon as he could do it, Mr. Truman named James F. Byrnes secretary of state.

Killed By Hate

Could it be that more Americans promised themselves to quit hating one another last weekend than ever had a healthy mass impulse before?

The evil consequences of hate never were borne in on more of us with such forces as while we watched step by step and sob by sob the awful grief inflicted on a family, a government and a nation by one burst of gunfire inspired by the worst hate there is—remote hate.

WHAT KIND of people are these who do such things?

They jump on defenseless women and old men in parks, in dark streets, even in elevators and batter their lives into oblivion because they hate something enough to kill. Could it be themselves they hate that much?

They attack people in automobiles and blot out their lives.

They invade houses in isolated places and maim and kill the occupants.

They slaughter women who live alone. And these are only their obvious crimes. The haters have subtler ways of killing.

They destroy character with malicious slander and systematic libel.

They plot and plan to cut down some one whose only offense is to be alive.

They grant human life no more dignity than they grant the life of a housefly that comes within their reach.

FOR MANY of us, last weekend was the longest we ever spent, filled with an endless succession of remorseful thoughts as we atoned, each in his own way, for the horrible thing that had happened to an American president.

The sin of the assassin's hate was on all our heads.

Oh, but we could not kill for hate, many would say. True, but how many would destroy for hate and is not destruction a little like killing—a distinction without a difference?

When it was over and we had shed our last tear, we went back to our tasks sadder than we can remember ever being before and perhaps a little wiser because of our sadness.

We had seen what hate could do. The victim this time was an American chief of state. The mourners were his wife, his beautiful children, his aged mother and father, his brothers and sisters and his countrymen.

It could happen one day that the mourners would be the silent stars, blinking through the aeons at the sight of an earth cold, mutilated, lifeless forever—killed by hate.

Labor Seen Solidly Behind Johnson

By Victor Riesel

It could have happened eight days earlier. John Kennedy had just finished speaking to the union leaders at labor's summit in a New York convention hall. I was at the edge of the press table when a woman brushed past me, almost leaped the high step to the stage and made for the President. Two secret service men knocked her down. She fell against the tables hitting the back of her head.

The President turned quickly and heard her say: "I just want to shake his hand." He said: "Let her come up. Let her shake hands."

The guards did not hear him. Dave Dubinsky, soaked by the contents of a water pitcher the intruder had knocked over, relayed the President's words to the Secret Service. She was brought up. The President and the lady clasped hands.

SHE HAD no gun. But it could have been someone who did. Some of the labor chiefs who sat paralyzed, watching the incident, wondered what would happen if "it" did happen.

Perhaps the talk was ghoulish. Perhaps prophetic. What would happen, some one asked, if Lyndon Johnson suddenly became president. Would the alliance between the House of Labor and the White House continue? Would Lyndon Johnson and labor work together, campaign together, march together as closely as John Kennedy and the union chiefs have?

Those questions were raised again during the grim echoes of the assassin's bullets.

The answer is that the coalition stands. There is not the slightest doubt that the union chiefs will throw their national political network, their funds and their manpower behind President Johnson in the 1964 campaign.

Actually they had already begun to do so. Many of them knew there were forces high in White House circles who wanted to drop Lyndon Johnson from the '64 ticket. Many of the labor chiefs knew that those forces, failing in that strategy, certainly were preparing to block his nomination for the presidency in 1968.

But many of the nation's labor chiefs backed him, though in their private conversations they were concerned over retaliation from the anti-Johnson forces.

IT WASN'T always so. But Lyndon Johnson, with the aid and guidance of Arthur Goldberg, wooed them and won them.

This began with a banquet given the then vice president by the then secretary of labor. This was early in the Kennedy administration. That evening Arthur Goldberg raised a wine glass and scores of labor guests drank a toast to the new coalition. From that moment there was little that any labor group, any minority leaders, any liberal organization could ask Johnson that would not be well received.

Labor's most sophisticated political strategists rallied to him. Among these were such highly placed union chiefs as the garment workers' Dave Dubinsky, and the hatters' Alex Rose, who has developed balance-of-power politics into a new art.

They, and scores of others, knew that Lyndon Johnson's political survival depended on his strength and image in the Northern industrial states. They knew that those inside the Democratic party high command who were opposed to the Texan were saying he would cost the '64 ticket the big blocs of Northern votes.

TYPICAL of labor's efforts to make the "image" was the New York Liberal party decision to ask Mr. Johnson to be the featured speaker at their annual banquet. The Liberal party is the New York State balance of power party. It threw the state to John F. Kennedy in '60. Its base is in the liberal unions and universities.

When Mr. Johnson arrived, Dave Dubinsky took him to a garment factory. Together they "cut" dress material. Then they walked the streets of the garment center.

Thus, had the Liberals four years earlier helped make the John Kennedy image.

That evening Mr. Johnson shared the speakers' platform with the most influential of Northern liberals. He was preceded by Negro leader, Benjamin M. McLaughlin, a high official of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and a member of the N.Y. Board of Education as well as vice president of the Liberal party.

In private conversations the labor men made no secret of their interpretation of the evening's events. They were saying to Mr. Johnson's enemies: We want him on the ticket in '64—and we are launching the '68 campaign as well.

President Johnson will not forget this. He could not. It was his most recent major political speech.

The labor leaders will not defect. They did not when he was vice president.

They will fight for him now that he is President.

A Force For Unity

By David Lawrence

Kennedy Death Poses Challenge For World

A change has come over us in America and perhaps over the world. It's an involuntary change, to be sure, precipitated by the sudden passing of a world leader, the late President of the United States John F. Kennedy but it could be a change that brings stability to our David Lawrence home front of friction and emotional controversy.

The mood of this country and of the peoples abroad today is one of serious contemplation. Hundreds of millions of persons on this continent and on other continents saw by television or heard by radio the funeral services for the American president. The impact of this solemnity cannot be measured as yet, but it may have put into perspective the fateful forces that tear nations apart or threaten to destroy human lives in a military conflict between powerful countries.

Representatives of more than 50 nations came to attend the final rites for the dead president including President Charles de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany, Prime Minister Sir Alex Douglas-Home of Great Britain, Premier Hayato Ikeda of Japan, Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan of the Soviet Union.

Heads of state walked in silence for a half-mile behind the caisson which carried the casket bearing the man who strove so earnestly to further the cause of world peace. Nearly 100 dignitaries from all over the world were present at the church and burial services.

WHAT MUST have been the thoughts of these leaders as they meditated on the meaning of mortal life and its lost opportunities!

Thanks to the inventions of man, instantaneous communication throughout the world has been made possible. No such wide coverage on the same day, simultaneously with the occurrence of a news event, has been achieved in the past. The total watching and listening audience was probably the greatest ever assembled.

Since communication has been so effective once on this occasion, it challenges man to employ it in the future in the cause of self-preservation and human survival. For the death of millions by nuclear war has been envisioned as feasible with today's weapons.

While treaties and agreements to ban certain nuclear tests have been signed, there is no assurance that small wars will not provoke bigger ones and lead to tremendous destruction of human life.

As one man passed so quickly from our midst to the world beyond, this single death could encourage the peoples of this world to reach out for unity and a better way of communicating with each other in order to restrain the ambitions and evil purposes that arise in the minds of thoughtless rulers.

Within the United States, too, the tragedy can have a strange sequel — a turning toward the ideals expressed by the departed leader. Opinions will differ as to the efficacy of particular proposals. Debate will continue on the merits of various legislative programs. But there will be a new awareness of the depth of feeling throughout this country about the importance of national unity.

THE NEW PRESIDENT, Lyndon B. Johnson, fortunately is a man of long experience in Congress and particularly in the post of Senate majority leader.

He has an intimate friendship with many members on Capitol Hill and acquaintance with their state problems — even closer perhaps than his predecessor happened to enjoy.

Mr. Johnson is a skillful negotiator and mediator. He knows how to win support for the measures he champions. He has a keen understanding of public-opinion trends. Like every vice president who has been given the task of filling out a presidential term, he will seek to maintain the administration's basic policies.

As for world policy, President Johnson will be under a strain in getting familiar quickly with all the nuances of our delicate relations with other governments, but he can apply the same perceptive qualities to foreign affairs as he does to domestic policies.

Above all, the influence of John F. Kennedy will remain to spur the new President on to achieve the unfinished task — an understanding between rival powers which could give assurance of an era of peace.

It will be recalled that the words of the 86th Psalm proclaim that "all nations whom thou has made small come and worship before thee, O Lord, and shall glorify thy name."

The poet Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote, "and life is perfected by death." Longfellow's famous verse comes to mind. He wrote:

"There is no death! What seems so is transition."

"This life of mortal breath 'Is but a suburb of the life Elysian."

"Whose portal we call death." As Cardinal Cushing said on Monday at the final mass for the late President Kennedy, "Life is not taken away, but is transformed."

The whole world listened on Monday. Maybe it will continue to listen to words that challenge man to fulfill his mission and bring peace to a distraught world.

Doesn't Look The Same

By Douglas B. Cornell

WASHINGTON

The presidential office doesn't look at all like it did last Thursday when John F. Kennedy left it for a tragic trip to Texas.

With one exception, that is. At one end there still is what you might call a reception center for distinguished visitors, with the sofas, coffee table and a rocking chair facing the fireplace.

But it isn't the rocker that Kennedy and his ailing back helped make famous. This is a new one that White House officials said Johnson brought from home.

The cocktail table in this intimate little grouping has a white marble top. The old one was walnut. The telephone now is on an end table at the end of a sofa rather than on the edge of the coffee table.

Otherwise there is little that remains to remind anyone of Kennedy. That is true partly because of some Kennedy decisions, rather than Johnson changes.

A redecorating had been planned to start and finish while Kennedy was in Texas. That has been carried out. In the Kennedy days there was a light green sculptured rug on the floor, with the presidential seal. A brilliant red one has taken its place. The White House said Kennedy picked it out.

The walls have been repainted to a bone-white, lighter than before. White draperies, edged in red, and white mesh curtains hang at the windows.

Former Navy man Kennedy had models of ships and prints of naval battles around the place in profusion. His desk was an ornately carved black piece made from the timbers of a British ship.

All these are gone, along with other Kennedy knickknacks and mementos, such as the plastic-encased coconut shell on which he carved a message for help after the PT boat he commanded in World War II was sunk by a Japanese destroyer in the Pacific.

Johnson has a few mementos around on tables and bookshelves—a scroll and quill awarded him by national business publications and a plaque from the American Heart Association—for a man who suffered a heart attack in 1955.

There are pictures of his mother, wife and daughters on desks and tables and one of himself and Kennedy in color on a bookshelf.

The shelves are only partly filled with books, mostly sets of volumes of writings and papers of presidents.

There are copies of Kennedy's "Profiles in Courage" and "The Strategy of Peace," of former President Harry S. Truman's two volumes on his White House years and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's "Crusade in Europe."

The biggest thing in the room was the new desk to replace the Kennedy desk that is expected to wind up at the Kennedy Memorial Library at Harvard University.

son as much as the man's personality would permit.

The regular checkups every month spelled out the spectacular recovery. Blood pressure normal. Pulse normal. x-rays showed no enlargement of the heart that would indicate it was compensating for some vital damage. Electrocardiographs returned to normal, showing the heart had recovered its regularity of function.

His wife, Lady Bird, helped by sharing his rigid diet.

On Dec. 14, one of his doctors was able to report:

"Senator Johnson is now active and his reactions to activity are normal."

By the end of the year, the doctors had spelled the conditions under which he could operate. Those conditions included frequent short vacations of two or three days taken throughout the year. Would he have another heart attack?

Said Dr. James C. Cain of the Mayo Clinic, a personal friend of the senator: "He does not have to have another. Because he has had one, he's not destined to have a second."

Anyone who has had a heart attack lives with the fact of it.

But Johnson has picked up his vigorous life, and has met unusual stresses without apparent ill effect.

A friend agreed that while he works hard, he relaxes hard too.

In the eight years since Johnson suffered his heart attack, he has led an active life.

Perhaps the reason is that any heart attack victim, being forewarned is being forearmed—and the warning is hard to forget.

Ann Ulrich of Stratton picked up one vote in her race for Village Council, but still finished third in a three-way race for two seats.

Opportunity Due In Field Of Hotels, Restaurants

Prospective college students choosing a major field of study often overlook hotel-restaurant management despite abundant opportunities for placement and high salaries. William D. Christopher told the Rotary Club Tuesday.

As the public relations director of the American Restaurant China Council, Christopher's profession takes him to colleges and universities throughout the country for speaking engagements before hotel - restaurant management trainees.

HIS mission in each visit is to cite the advantages of vitrified china to the $20 billion-a-year food industry over substitute materials such as glass, paper or plastic.

Pointing out the opportunities that abound for hotel - restaurant management graduates, Christopher said the 1962 graduating class of 92 at Michigan State University could pick from over 433 job offers.

Their average starting salary was $478 monthly. A study by Cornell University revealed that the average "hospitality" graduate catches up with a graduate engineer in salary after six years and surpasses him by $6,000 after 12 years. Christopher told the club at its noon luncheon meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

THERE ARE more top posts in the hotel-restaurant management field paying $25,000 a year than there are people to fill them, with some 50-to-75 jobs available for each graduate, he added.

Trainees in hotel - restaurant management generally follow a basic curriculum for their first two years in school, then begin specialized training for their third and fourth years, he said, in such courses as hotel law, club management, and preparation and chemistry of food.

Students who choose hotel-restaurant management can follow courses leading to bachelor's and master's degrees, and some even continue towards a doctor's degree, he explained.

The colleges that offer "outstanding" hotel - restaurant management courses include Cornell, Michigan State and Denver University, and there are innumerable schools that offer two-year courses of study, he added.

CHRISTOPHER explained his job as public relations director of the 11-member Council is to point out to the prospective purchasing agents and managers the advantages of using vitrified china in the food industry. The member concerns of the ARCC include two local firms, Wellsville China Co. and Sterling China Co., in addition to Caribee China Co., Syracuse China Co., Shenango China Co., Walker China Co., Mayer China Co., Jackson China Co., Wallace China Co., Buffalo China Co., and Allegheny - Buffalo China Co.

The companies have manufactured vitrified china for hotels, airlines and institutions and clubs for a total of 575 years, Christopher said.

He explained "vitrified" as meaning "non-absorbing."

A club member, Christopher went on to itemize the food industry as a $20 billion-a-year business, "and our association is equipped to handle their needs."

He cited a study which showed one hospital used $60,000 in paper products a year in its food services. Changing recently to china, it saved $15,000 alone in one year, he said.

A SURVEY of the Tulsa (Okla.) school system revealed that it cost 18.7 cents per year for each pupil for use of vitrified china, or 0.02 cents per month—less than the cost of the parsley sprinkled on the food, he said.

Christopher was introduced by Ralph A. Finley, president. James Batey, vice president of Sterling China, was a guest.

Finley inducted four new members—Hans Hacker and Joe Coons. Members paused for a moment of silent prayer in respect to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Federal Jury Clears Fekett Of Extortion

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal court jury acquitted Samuel S. Fekett, former Youngstown city law director, Tuesday of charges he extorted or attempted to extort money from contractors doing business with the City of Youngstown in 1960.

The jury of seven men and five women deliberated only a half hour.

U. S. District Court Judge James C. Connell said the jury had done the only thing which it could do in the case because, he said, the prosecution had from the beginning failed to establish an important element of the case.

Judge Connell, in an 80-minute charge to the jury had stressed that the extortion charges would be in a state and not a federal court if they were not based on an allegation of willful interference or attempt at interference with interstate commerce. The judge indicated in charging the jury that he felt the prosecution had slighted the interstate - commerce angle in presenting its case.

Fekett admitted under cross-examination last week that he accepted a $750 check from Nick Di Margo, an engineer for the Syro Steel Co. of Girard, and that the money was for legal work. The former law director said, however, he had no records of performing any legal work for Syro Steel.

The Department of Foreign Affairs was created by Act of Congress July 27, 1789, and the name was changed to Department of State on Sept. 15.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Can Help Young 'Collectors'

Your child from 6 to 12 may like to collect all sorts of things. A mother cleaning out her boy's pockets before his clothes are washed, often finds a wide variety of things he has collected. This urge to collect may be stimulated to cause him to make collections from Dr. Garry Meyers which he can derive much information and pleasure — of rocks, leaves, insects, stamps or coins.

One problem is to keep him working on his collection for an extended period. Many children get all excited over making a collection, only to abandon it after several weeks or months. The young collector often needs guidance as he collects, so that he respects the rights and possessions of others and is not tempted to steal.

THE FOLLOWING letter came from a mother in Virginia:

"Our son, age 7, is a 'collector' of everything — marbles, nails, string, rocks — and possessions of other children. These usually are trivial things which he brings home in his pockets, puts in a corner of his drawer and never plays with at all.

"One day we found another child's baton hidden under our son's bed. He knows that this is not right, and really seems not to want these things. But he continues to bring them home. "Explanations of 'stealing', punishments, and taking away privileges have not helped."

My reply in part: You have an opportunity to encourage this lad to center his collecting interest on one group of items. The whole family might assist him, helping him find good ways of displaying what he collects.

RIGHTLY YOUR concern is over his collecting things clandestinely which belong to other children. When you found that baton he had hidden away, why did you not go with him to return it to the owner?

You don't indicate that you even told him to return it. Even if you had, he might not have done so.

In case he tells you he doesn't know to whom the article belongs, you might properly appropriate it. Presumably you merely rebuked and lectured him about stealing. Also you probably questioned and cross-questioned him, tempting him to lie.

It's doubtful if punishment for finding in his possession what belongs to others will help much.

Be more vigilant at home in order to make sure he respects the rights and belongings of others.

Your greatest opportunity is to help him develop an acceptable collection while you and Dad build a happier relationship with him and help the youngster enjoy wholesome fun with other boys of his age.

TRY TO ATTRACT some of these playmates to your home, where you may guide them and your son in wholesome attitudes toward the rights and possessions of others; also perhaps guide your son in becoming a good playmate.

I hope Dad goes places with this lad, sometimes taking along some of his playmates; that both you parents have more good times with him and help him feel worthy in the family and among relatives and friends.

Casket Shortage Delays Burial Of 24 Fire Victims

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—Burial of 24 unclaimed dead from Saturday's Golden Age Nursing Home fire, scheduled for Fitchville today, has been put over until Thursday in Norwalk because of a shortage of caskets in the Fitchville area.

The 24 unclaimed bodies will be interred in Woodlawn Cemetery. They are among 63 persons who perished in the blaze.

Rather than a common grave, which had been planned earlier, each victim will have a cloth-covered casket of wood and each casket will be put into a concrete vault to meet local burial regulations.

A gravesite service and burial equivalent to one costing $400 each is being planned, said Richard Eastman, president of the Huron County Funeral Directors' Association. Aid for the Aged, a division of the state welfare program, will pay $180 of the funeral costs for most of the 24.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

To Keep On Course, Set A Goal

If you get into the habit of using food as a tranquilizer to ease tensions, you'll gain unwanted poundage. When you eat to satisfy false hunger—a hunger not caused by lack of food—you are not really solving the problem. Fact is, you create another problem, Ida Jean Kain overweight.

It's quite easy to get caught in a kind of vicious circle. In the beginning, there is some cause, but when this turns into a habit pattern and the result is overweight, then the effect becomes the cause!

TO ILLUSTRATE: Co-eds often gain during their first term away from home. Many a family has been startled at the sight of the buxom lassie walking in the front door at Thanksgiving time. One girl, hefting the 18-pound turkey, announced ruefully, "Great day in the morning. I've taken on a whole turkey!"

The combination of adjusting to change — missing the family — and socializing with new friends complete with refreshments, is insidiously fattening. It's a wise girl who calls a halt to all the extra-curricular calories and takes measures to get rid of that turkey. Who wants to be out of the running at the holiday season?

Or, take the overweight who wrote that she couldn't get into any of her dress-up clothes so she couldn't go any place during the holidays. This depressed her, driving her to the consolation of eating, which only made matters worse.

Mental housecleaning finally pulled her out of the rut. She recalled that the onset of her weight problem tallied with the time of her husband's retirement. Resentment over the change in her way of living set her to constant nibbling.

Then, 35 pounds later, the realization that others had far greater problems in their lives determined her to change her attitude — and herself.

FRIENDS, the idea that it will be rewarding to exert yourself is not always easy to accept. Food, excess food that is, offers a kind of passive gratification... but the consequences are so unsatisfactory! So, a course of action is needed. Activity means doing something. When you just sit at home, you stay cooped up with worries. Here is a promise... take action and then you will feel like it.

When you look for ways to make life more interesting, you are on the right track. Any measure that stirs your enthusiasm helps you to hurdle that initial inertia.

To keep on course, set a goal. If you are willing to make the effort, you'll liberate energy and reap unexpected rewards.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review. Postcard requests cannot be answered.

Caroline Kennedy 6 Today; Had Expected To Have Party

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Today is Caroline Kennedy's sixth birthday. She had expected to have an ice cream-and-cake party in her White House home for the third year in a row.

She could have expected her smiling, handsome father to come and watch the fun for at least a moment. He always did. She probably had her party dress all ready. White House emissaries had bought the party favors.

Five days ago, Caroline and her brother John Jr., were suddenly taken to their grandmother's Auchincloss' for dinner.

They were back in their own beds at 4:30 a.m. when a Navy ambulance pulled up to the big front portico of their home amid television floodlights and their mother came up the steps with blood splattered on her clothes.

Next day, White House spokesmen said, Caroline and her brother learned the news that meant their father would come to no more of their happy parties.

Their mother took them by the hand into the huge East Room where they had watched dancing and receptions and entertainment and where their father had stood stiffly in the doorway while the scarlet-coated Marine Band they loved played "Hail to the Chief."

This time, there were black ribbons on the huge, glittering crystal chandeliers and a big coffin stood in the center of the room.

Their mother took them by the hand—in their pale blue coats, red shoes and white socks—to ride in a long parade to the Capitol. When they climbed the long steps with her, the coffin was there again draped with a big American flag.

Next day they drove with their nurse and met their mother at the church and went inside with her to listen to prayers and speeches. The coffin was there again.

After darkness fell Tuesday night, Mrs. Kennedy took Caroline to her father's grave for the first time.

For about 10 minutes they stood alone in the soft blue glow of the flickering eternal light, and then went home—a home they would soon leave.

Saxbe Warns On Licensing For Trucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—When a temporary truce ends and Ohio starts canceling truck licensing reciprocity with some states, "all hell is going to break loose," Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe predicts.

Saxbe offered the forecast Tuesday while testifying before a committee of state lawmakers. They are studying the matter of retaliation against Ohio trucks by other states because of the axle-mile tax Ohio passed 10 years ago to aid highway construction.

While continuing to refuse to excuse any out-of-state trucks of three or more axles (except government vehicles) from the tax, Ohio's legislature earlier this year set up a Reciprocity Board and called for issuing reciprocity certificates.

But if no agreement can be reached in the next few months with states which have been retaliating against Ohio truckers (through permits, fees, etc.), the legislature says: "No reciprocity with them."

And that would mean truckers from those states would have to buy Ohio license plates.

If Ohio and other states cannot resolve their differences, Saxbe said, it "may be that the federal government will have to intervene, something we don't want."

As a result of the situation, the attorney general said, there is a problem "in attracting new trucking industries to Ohio and keeping the ones we have."

Donald B. Smith, managing director of the Ohio Trucking Association, made up of about a thousand trucking firms, told the committee:

"There is only one cause of Ohio's reciprocity problems—the axle-mile tax—and this should not be ignored in seeking solutions to the problem. The trucking industry is willing to pay its share of the highway building program, but truly needs relief from the method now being used and the problems it creates for our industry in other states."

Rep. Gail W. Porterfield, R-Knox, wondered if Ohio truckers had considered paying by some means themselves the $18 million which the tax produces annually.

"We do not have the solution at this time," Smith said. "We hope to come up with several suggestions."

Army-Navy Tilt Slated Dec. 7, Scrambles Bowl Picture

Pitt Could Get Cotton Invitation

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer Army and Navy will meet in their traditional football battle — but a week later than scheduled — and will bring down the curtain on a 10-day period beginning Thanksgiving that figures to find bowl offers frantically flung around the country.

Tickets Available For ELHS Grid Fete

About 300 are expected to attend a banquet Saturday night at Memorial Auditorium when the 1963 Potter football team will be honored. Tickets at $2.75 must be purchased by noon Friday and no tickets will be sold at the door. The banquet will begin at 6 p. m.

the naming of Navy's Roger Staubach as the Heisman Trophy winner and Louisiana State University's acceptance of a Bluebonnet Bowl bid.

The Army-Navy game will be pushed back to Dec. 7 — Pearl Harbor Day — in deference to the memory of the late President Kennedy. The Pentagon said the Kennedy family intervened so that the annual service classic would not be canceled.

The official statement said the game will be dedicated to his memory.

The announcement further scrambled a puzzling major college bowl picture currently filled in at only three spots — top-ranked Texas in the Cotton Bowl seventh-ranked Nebraska in the Orange Bowl and LSU in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

The Thanksgiving Day program and this Saturday's schedule, including many key games that were postponed from last week due to the assassination of President Kennedy, were expected to wrap up most of the holes. But the Army-Navy postponement complicated the situation.

The second-ranked Middles and Staubach, now dubbed the best player in the country by the Heisman voters, were expected to tangle with Texas in the Cotton Bowl providing they beat Army for the fifth consecutive year.

However, their possible participation in a post-season game may have vanished when the postponement appeared. It is believed the sentiment in the Pentagon for cancellation of the game, plus the lengthening of the regular scheduled by a week may rule out a bowl trip for Navy.

It also may rule out a top match-up in the Cotton Bowl. Promoters said Tuesday they will wait until the Dec. 7 schedule, presumably to get Navy's decision. Their second choice is Pitt, which also plays that Saturday, against Penn State.

Pitt, however, does not have to wait until its final game to make a decision — and might be agreeable to an offer from another major bowl. If Pitt goes elsewhere, then Navy declines, the Cotton Bowl will be lacking a top-flight opponent for the unbeaten and untied Longhorns.

Meanwhile, Illinois and Michigan State prepared for their Big Ten clash, a Thanksgiving Day battle that will fill one of the Rose Bowl spots. Other bowl candidates also will be in action Thursday, as well as Saturday.

The winner of the Big Ten battle between the fourth-ranked Spartans and eighth-ranked Illinois at East Lansing, Mich., gets a Rose berth against a Big Six opponent which will come out of two Saturday games, Washington at Washington State and Southern California at UCLA. Washington has the inside track.

Also headlining the Thursday program is the meeting between Texas and arch rival Texas A&M plus games involving bowl hopefuls Syracuse and North Carolina. The Orange, who meet Notre Dame in New York, could wind up in the Gator Bowl against the Tar Heels, who are at Duke.

The Saturday schedule will fill the West Coast Rose Bowl entry and two Orange and Sugar bowl spots. Auburn could grab an Orange berth with a victory over Alabama, another bowl hopeful, while Mississippi likely will be Sugar Bowl host with a victory over Mississippi State.

A Mississippi State victory, on the other hand, probably would bring the Bulldogs the berth.

Staubach 3rd Junior To Win Heisman Trophy

By HERB THOMPSON ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Roger Staubach, Navy's exciting quarterback and 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, is a football perfectionist who works as hard keeping his skills sharp as he did in acquiring them.

Almost any afternoon after practice, he can be seen on the field working individually on some phase of his game.

He may be taking handoffs under center, sharpening his passing with two or three receivers who stayed to run a few more patterns, or sprinting to build up wind for those loping, easy runs that are so deceptive and have demolished many enemy defenses this fall.

His favorite pastime during summer leave is passing a football with friends.

"You'd think he was a kid trying to make the team instead of being one of the best football players in the country," an observer said one day recently as Jolly Roger sailed through a few extra wind sprints after practice.

The Heisman Trophy board took him out of the class of "one of the best" Tuesday, it voted the long-legged Cincinnati, Ohio, junior the outstanding college football player in the country. In leading Navy to No. 2 national ranking and an 8-1 season which will be climaxed in a postponed game with Army Dec. 7, he has rolled up 1,738 yards passing and running, passed for seven touchdowns and run for eight.

Staubach was chosen by a wide margin — 517 first place votes to 65—over Georgia Tech's versatile senior quarterback Billy Lothridge, who placed second.

The 21-year-old midshipman is scheduled to receive the award from the sponsoring Downtown Athletic Club in New York Dec. 4, the same week he leads the bowl-minded Middles against an Army team he made a shambles of as a sophomore last year.

Staubach, whose precision passes, Houdini escapes from tacklers and scrambling runs have made him one of the most exciting players in college football, reacted with typical modesty to announcement of the award.

"The Heisman Trophy is something you hear about in high school and suddenly it happens to you," he said. "I can hardly believe it... it's something I'll treasure all my life."

"I owe it to everyone," he said, citing coaches from grade school through Wayne Hardin and also the Navy teammates who have thrown so many blocks for him and gotten up to throw them again as he scrambled to set up a pass or take off on an unbelievable run.

He is immensely popular with his teammates, many of whom have asked him to autograph pictures to send to friends, and with the brigade of midshipmen who cheer every honor that comes his way.

Off the field he is known as a quiet, deeply religious midshipman who attends Catholic mass and communion at 6 a.m. daily and is an average student.

Staubach is Hardin's second Heisman winner in three years. Halfback Joe Bellino, who won it in 1960, was the first Navy player ever to gain the honor.

NFL Is Ready If Playoffs Are Needed

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Football League has rolled out a playoff schedule with 11 different possibilities involving six teams in the event the conference crowns are not decided by the end of the regular season.

One of the possibilities involves the Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers, running 1-2 in the Western Conference. The other 10 involve the four teams still in contention for the Eastern title—Cleveland, St. Louis and New York, all tied at 8-3, and Pittsburgh, 6-3-2.

If the Bears, 9-1-1, and Packers, 9-2, wind up in a tie, they will play at Green Bay, Dec. 22 for the right to represent the West in the championship game. All teams have three games remaining.

The Eastern playoff schedule provides for four versions of triple ties and six different combinations for two-way ties. Commissioner Pete Rozelle said a four-way tie was not considered.

If a triple tie results, the championship set for Dec. 29 would be pushed back a week to Sunday, Jan. 5. The game will be played in the home city of the Western champion.

Rozelle drew up the schedule after a long session on the phone with representatives of the six clubs. The club officials made a call on the flip of a coin by league office personnel.

Baltimore 'Fouls Up' In NBA Defeat

By The Associated Press Don't mention charity to Bob Leonard, coach of the National Basketball Association's Baltimore Bullets.

The Philadelphia 76ers all but handed Tuesday night's game to Baltimore with foul shots but Leonard's Bullets misfired from the free throw line and lost their ninth in the last 10 games.

Hal Greer's last second basket gave Philadelphia the victory, 115-113, after the Bullets kept the 76ers alive by blowing 15 of 36 free throw attempts. Greer's 12-footer was in the air as the final buzzer sounded and when it swished through Philadelphia had its fourth straight triumph and fifth in a row at home.

Al Bianchi coached Philadelphia in the absence of Dolph Schayes, who was in New York because of the death of his mother.

In a New York doubleheader, a crowd of 14,585 watched Cincinnati limit Wilt Chamberlain to 23 points and whip San Francisco, 123-112, and Los Angeles stifle a last-gasp New York rally to win, 119-112.

Chamberlain couldn't do a thing about the red-hot Royals, who hit 48 of 89 from the floor for their second straight victory. Oscar Robertson led Cincinnati with 32.

Three Threaten Wilt Point Pace

NEW YORK (AP)—The new Wilt Chamberlain, whose feeding and defense reshaped the attack of the San Francisco Warriors, has thrown the National Basketball Association scoring race into a scramble.

The old Chamberlain poured points at a record rate through his first four years in the NBA. But the new Wilt has cut his point production sharply and as a result three other players threaten his 32.6 average. St. Louis Bob Pettit, the leader in total points with 554 and a 27.7 average, Jerry West of Los Angeles, with a 28.9 percentage, and Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, who's hitting 26.7 per game all have a chance to catch Wilt.

Rookie Of Year Honor Won By Rose In National Loop

By CARL C. CRAFT Associated Press Staff Writer FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP)—Take it from Pvt. Pete Rose, there's nothing like being told you've been named National League Rookie of the Year to wipe away the memory of a long day of KP detail.

"Great!" exclaimed the hustling Cincinnati second baseman, "I thought I had a chance at it."

"And I don't believe in all that stuff about the sophomore jinx. I'm going to try to bat .300 and be the next Sophomore of the Year," he added.

Rose had gotten up for a KP detail at 3 a.m. Tuesday, the day the award was announced.

Rose, a member of the Ohio National Guard in Army basic training, had 170 hits, including 26 doubles, nine triples and six home runs with the Reds last season. He scored 101 runs, drove in 41 and stole 13 bases.

He entered basic training Oct. 30. He will be at Fort Knox until Jan. 18, 1964, then will go to a special school for a month. He will be through with his active requirement in time to miss only about a week of spring training.

Rose, 21, a Cincinnati native played for Macon in the Class A Sally League a year ago.

He became a hallmark of aggressiveness for the Reds this season—appearing in 157 games and batting .273. Defensively, he compiled a fielding mark of .971, which helped impress the panel of 20 sports writers which Tuesday gave him 17 votes.

He topped Ron Hunt, New York Mets' second baseman, who had two votes, and Ray Culp, Philadelphia Phillies' pitcher who received the other vote.

Packers, Lions Battle In Turkey Day Contest

DETROIT (AP)—The Green Bay Packers are quitting the traditional series of Thanksgiving Day games at Detroit—but the Detroit Lions have one more chance Thursday to spoil a holiday for Packers fans.

The Lions banished Green Bay's holiday cheer last Thanksgiving by dumping the National Football League's Western Division leaders, 26-14. The Packers still finished first, but the Lions won in embarrassing style, continually throwing quarterback Bart Starr for losses.

Detroit is in a better position to ruin the Packers this season, since a loss would all but knock Green Bay out of the title running.

Giants, Bears Lead In Offense, Defense

NEW YORK (AP)—New York's offense and Chicago's defense continue to dominate the National Football League's weekly team statistics although the Giants were beaten Sunday and the Bears had to scramble for a tie in Pittsburgh.

The Giants have ground out a total offense of 4,051 yards in 11 games. The Bears gave up 17 points to the Steelers in their tie game, but still have allowed only 106 points, less than 10 a game. They have given up 2,507 yards.

Broncos And Raiders In TV Tilt Thursday

DENVER (AP)—With a long delay expected to help the home team, the Denver Broncos will meet the Oakland Raiders in a nationally televised (ABC) American Football League game here Thursday.

Kickoff will be at 11:30 a.m. EST. No other AFL games are scheduled Thanksgiving Day. On Sunday, Kansas City will be at New York, Houston at San Diego and Buffalo at Boston.

He convinced NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle that after Thursday, the Western Division teams should take turns playing at Detroit on Thanksgiving Day. The Thanksgiving Day game is the only regular season NFL game which always has played to capacity crowds and a nationwide television audience.

W. Beaver Routs Opponent, 74-43

The Western Beaver Golden Beavers opened their 1963-64 basketball season on a winning note by trouncing the Center High Trojans, 74-43, on the loser's hardwood last night.

The scoring output by George Hromanik's Western squad was the highest in the school's short two-year history.

Leading the way for the Golden Beavers was Gary Shreve, Larry Robinson and Gary Brandt. The trio scored 17, 16 and 15 points respectively.

The scoring honors for the game were copied by Center's George Zatezalo, who accounted for 27 of his team's 43 points. The Western JV's made the night a complete one by running roughshod over the Center JV's, 64-25, in the prelim. Ron Bassar was high for Western with 12 points.

Western will again take to the hardwood when they host Mars next Tuesday.

200 College Stars Listed On AFL Draft

NEW YORK (AP)—A total of 200 collegians, including such eligibles as Navy quarterback Roger Staubach, the 1963 Heisman Trophy winner, and Scott Appleton, outstanding Texas tackle, are expected to be chosen in the American Football League draft Saturday.

There will be 25 rounds with all eight teams drawing in the first round.

Either Denver or Kansas City will have first pick, depending upon the outcome of the Oakland-Denver game, the league's lone Thanksgiving Day encounter.

The selections will be made in inverse order of the standings as of Friday. If Oakland defeats Denver, the Broncos will have first pick. If the Broncos win, Kansas City will make the first choice. New York's Jets will have third pick.

Orioles Swap Gentile, Cash For A's Seibern

By GORDON BEARD Associated Press Sports Writer BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, willing to sacrifice power for consistent hitting and hustle, have swapped moody slugger Jim Gentile to the Kansas City Athletics in exchange for Norm Siebern.

The Orioles had to sweeten the pot with $25,000 in cash to swing Tuesday's trade of first basemen, indicating how Gentile's market value has slumped along with his batting average and home runs during the past two seasons.

For the Athletics, striving mightily to add power to their attack, it was the second major deal in the past eight days. On Nov. 18, the A's sent second baseman Jerry Lumpe and pitchers Ed Rakow and Dave Wickersham to Detroit in exchange for slugger Rocky Colavito and pitcher Bob Anderson.

In Kansas City, General Manager Pat Friday of the Athletics said, "You can bet we will be trying to make further trades at the winter meeting. We are looking for a center fielder with power."

After a great 1961 season, when he slugged 46 homers, drove in 141 runs and batted .302, Gentile has slipped to .251 and .248 the past two years. His home run output dropped to 33, and then 24.

Cards' Wilson Picked NFL's Star Of Week

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Y. A. Tittle took great pride in his record of only four interceptions in the first 10 games played by the New York Giants. Then Sunday he had two intercepted in the same ball game. Larry Wilson of St. Louis came up with both as the Cardinals upset the Giants 24-17.

As a result of Wilson's fine defensive play in the Cards' deep defense, he was named Player of the Week in the National Football League by The Associated Press.

Wilson's specialty in four years as a safety man in the NFL has been his colorful blitz play from the safety spot. He is a rangy 6-foot, 190-pounder with good speed and quick hands. In his high school days at Rigby, Idaho, he was a full-back. At Utah he was a half-back. The interceptions were his third and fourth of the season.

Don Hultz, Minnesota's rookie from Southern Methodist, also was a candidate for top honors with his two recoveries of Detroit fumbles, tying the NFL record of eight for the season. Tommy Mason scored the clincher in the closing minutes of the Vikings 34-31 victory after Hultz recovered Dan Lewis' fumble. Paul Flatley too had two great catches in the winning drive.

Pirates Gain Freese From Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds sold veteran third baseman Gene Freese today to the Pittsburgh Pirates for cash and a minor league player to be delivered later.

The amount of cash was not disclosed but it was described as "substantial."

In going to the Pirates, the 30-year-old Freese will be returning to the club with which he stated his major league career in 1955. He also has played with the St. Louis Cardinals, Philadelphia Phils and the Chicago White Sox.

The Reds obtained Freese from the White Sox in December 1960. He was a key figure in Cincinnati's drive to a National League pennant in 1961, batting .277 with 26 home runs and 87 runs batted in.

In 1962 he suffered a broken ankle early in spring training and was out of action until the final games of the season when he participated in 18 contests.

He got off to a bad hitting start last season and eventually was sent to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League, but was recalled in mid-July. In all, he batted .244 for the Reds in 66 games and .281 in 54 contests with San Diego.

Reds President Bill DeWitt said Manager Fred Hutchinson plans to give younger players a chance at the third base spot and he mentioned Bobby Klaus and Chico Ruiz in particular.

2 City Men Fined $50 In Intoxication Cases

Two East Liverpool men were remanded to jail pending payment of fines of $50 and costs assessed today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on intoxication charges.

Elmer Hackathorne, 63, of W. 6th St. was arrested at 12:28 a. m. today at 6th St. and St. Clair Ave. by Patrolmen H. E. Frontz and J. A. Walsh, who reported he was creating a disturbance. It was his fifth arrest on an intoxication charge this year, police advised the court.

A similar penalty was given Clarence Morgan of High St., arrested Monday at a West End home. Morgan pleaded not guilty Tuesday. He was convicted today on testimony of Patrolman Jerry F. Adkins.

Movie Will Cut Out Mention Of Kennedy

NEW YORK (AP) — All 350 film copies of the movie, "Take Her, She's Mine," which opened here Nov. 13, have been recalled by 20th Century Fox to delete references to President Kennedy.

A Fox spokesman said Tuesday a scene in which a character supposedly speaks to Mrs. John F. Kennedy is being removed and two scenes in which an actor speaks in a voice resembling the late President's are being dubbed with another voice.

Oswald Had Applied For Card In Union

EAST PATERSON, N.J. (AP) —The American Civil Liberties Union says that 18 days before President Kennedy was slain, Lee Harvey Oswald, his accused assassin, applied for ACLU membership.

The organization said a clerk came across Oswald's application Tuesday among 351 others. None had been entered on membership lists, the ACLU said.

Average Game Can Top Cardinals, Parrish Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bernie Parrish, Cleveland's outspoken defensive halfback, feels the Browns can beat the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday "if we just play an average football game."

"If we had played even average football all season we'd have only one loss, that second game with the Giants, and that wouldn't have been a rout," he said Tuesday. "It's time we realized that we've been beating ourselves."

The Browns are tied with the Cardinals and the New York Giants for the top spot in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League. The three teams all have 8-3

Youth, 18, Charged In Murder Of Wife

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—An 18-year-old high school senior has been charged with first-degree murder in the death of his wife.

Robert Willis told authorities a .32 caliber automatic discharged accidentally in their Harveysburg home Nov. 17, fatally wounding his wife, Jacqueline, 17. Officials said the charge was filed Tuesday because of discrepancies in Willis' story.

Self-Defense Ruled In Fatal Stabbing

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Court Judge Otis Hess has ruled the stabbing of Hardy Davidson, 47, was in self-defense and that Charles Bailey, 46, is innocent of first-degree manslaughter charges.

Junior Editors Quiz on- SCIENCE

QUESTION: Why does the flame of a candle stand up against gravity?

ANSWER: Gravity certainly does tend to pull things down, but as you study our diagrams you'll understand why the flame on the candle stands up. When air is warmed, it tends to expand as the movements of its molecules become more active. This makes it less dense than cold air, and thus lighter. Since cold air is heavier, it sinks, while warm air goes up. Like warm air, a flame is also light and tends to rise. Another reason it rises is that the air above it gets heated, and this air then expands, leaving a partial vacuum which helps suck the flame upward.

When air becomes warmed over certain heated spots on the earth's surface, colder air sinks below it and pushes it up. It is the movements between these warm and cool air masses which cause the winds.

FOR YOU TO DO: Tear a ribbon of tissue paper and hold it over a hot radiator by one end; the other end will start to move and lift up. This will prove that hot air rises.

Margery Gorth of Wichita Falls, Tex., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 17-year-old girl whose problem probably is shared by millions of teen-agers. I refer to parents who have terrible arguments in front of their children.

I once read that arguing is good for people because it allows them to let off steam and release tension. Well, it may release tension for those who are doing the arguing, but it creates tension for kids who have to listen.

Ann Landers will appear as a guest of Hugh Downs' on the Today show Thursday morning on the NBC television network. The show, from 7 to 9, is carried by Channels 6, 7 and 11 in the East Liverpool area.

I have listened to my parents fight ever since I was old enough to understand words. Their arguments follow a pattern. One will start picking on the other over some trifle. Finally it builds up to a horrible, name-calling battle.

The fight ends when my mother slams the bedroom door and locks it — or my father walks out of the house.

Don't parents realize it is impossible for children to have any respect for them if they don't have any respect for each other?

Please print this letter for the benefit of all the parents in this country who think their arguments are private affairs. Let them know their fights affect everybody within hearing distance. — SHOOK.

Dear Shook: For years I've been crusading against parental fights in the presence of children.

Every couple, no matter how well mated, is bound to hit on differences of opinion. Civilized, mature adults resolve their differences in private. Calling names and hurling insults is destructive and it solves nothing.

I'm delighted you wrote so that parents can see how their brawling looks from the peanut gallery. Many thanks.

Population Reducer

Dear Ann: Several months ago a chemistry student gave my son a test tube filled with crystals that would "take care of" cats.

We always have had a surplus of cats in our neighborhood and their yowling at night is a nuisance but I never could bring myself to use the poison. So I locked the test tube in a chest in the basement.

The other evening I saw a TV show that scared me half to death. The show dealt with poisoning. Now I want more than ever to get rid of that test tube but I don't know how.

If I throw it into the toilet the poison would go through the sewage purifying plant and eventually into the natural waterways. I can't burn it because it may produce deadly fumes. If I hand it over to the police I may get into trouble.

I can't sleep nights because of this problem. If you can help me I'll be forever grateful. — THE SAN FRANCISCO SHAKES.

Dear Shakes: I have checked with my authorities on poisonous chemical substances and they tell me you should give the test tube to any pharmacist. He will dispose of it as he does other poisonous substances.

And in the future don't accept anything for cats which you wouldn't pour over your own breakfast cereal.

Coddled Cutie

Dear Ann: Our only child, Joanne, is a bright, beautiful, well-behaved 2-year-old. When we have guests over she always stays up until the guests leave. When we go visiting friends we always take Joanne with us.

Recently I've heard some friends say they think it is just terrible that we "drag" this child wherever we go.

We are usually home by midnight and then she sleeps until about 10 the next morning. We think it does no harm. What is your opinion? — MILLIE.

Dear Millie: Sorry, but Joanne should not be spending evenings with grownups, at home or elsewhere. You do this child no favor by feeding her a steady diet of adult conversation. Your friends are right to complain.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tally Proves Columbiana's Loss Of Levy

Defeat of a 3-mill operating levy in the Columbiana village exempted school district was confirmed when the County Election Board completed a recount late Tuesday afternoon from 10 of the district's 15 precincts.

The margin of defeat was widened to 15, compared with 11 in the official canvass of returns. The recount dropped two favorable votes and added two in opposition.

The overall totals, taking into account the figures produced by the recount, now are:

For the levy 904
Against levy 919

The official canvass figures had showed 906 in favor of the levy and 917 opposed.

Of the 10 precincts recounted yesterday, the original count showed 825 in favor of the levy and 869 opposed. In the new tabulation, the count changed to 823 in favor of the levy and 871 opposed.

After the recount confirmed defeat of the measure, School Supt. Delmore W. Bailey commented it would mean a loss of approximately $50,000 a year to the school district. He observed the recount throughout as one of the committee which had petitioned for the check.

The new tabulation was completed at 3:45 p. m. Representing the Election Board were Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana, chairman and one of the Democratic members, and Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon and Atty. James L. McSweeney of Wellsville, the Republican members. Don Gosney of Columbiana, the second Democratic member, could not attend because he was in Washington.

The recount covered all eight village precincts, plus the North and Northeast Precincts of Fairfield Township.

No votes were cast on the issue in the Center Precinct of Fairfield Township. The other precincts in the school district lie in Mahoning County. Their returns were not recounted.

The recount showed changes only in Precinct B of the village and the Northeast Precinct of Fairfield Township. In both instances, the affirmative vote dropped by one and the negative gained by one.

In all other precincts the count was the same as in the official canvass.

As the tabulation ended, the Election Board members indicated they will exercise the option under state law to charge the petitioners the minimum of $5 per precinct for the recount — a total of $50. Law required the committee to post a total of $100, representing $10 per precinct. The $50 will be refunded through the county treasurer's office.

Russell Ousted As Cleveland's Council Head

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jack Russell, a throwback to the old-time big city political bosses, has been ousted as Cleveland City Council president.

The surprising development came Tuesday night at a Democratic Party caucus to choose leaders for the new term beginning in January.

The man who shot Russell out of the saddle was James V. Stanton, 31-year-old West Side councilman. He led a rebellious group which has grown in stature in recent years.

Russell has served as Council president for five terms, some of them stormy. He has been accused of dictatorial tactics but always managed to turn back all opposition. He had fought with the city administrations but came out of the battles even stronger.

One secret ballot gave Stanton 15 votes to 13 for Russell, who had nothing to say after his stunning defeat.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a hint I discovered that is so fabulous I just must pass on to other mothers. In fact, even for those who do not even have children, it allows for quite a saving.

We have floor furnaces in our home. Something was always being dropped, or pushed into the grates . . . or just for fun, the kiddies would stick little things down into them.

One night my husband took a piece of wire screening (left over from repairing), cut it the same size as our floor openings and wired this to each grate on the bottom side of the cover itself.

Heloise, it's absolutely wonderful. Not only does it keep items from falling into the cavity of the heater but it also catches all of the dust which used to land in the heating unit.

Once in a while, all we have to do is unwire the piece of screen, hold it under our kitchen faucet upside down, and spray the accumulated dust off the screen. Sure saves us a mess.

CAROL ROSCO.

Now aren't you just the sweetest thing to tell us this? I have checked, gals, and this wire screening can be bought at nearly any hardware or lumber yard for a few cents a foot. It doesn't cost half as much as I thought it did! It's worth a try, huh?

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If I ran out of nuts when I am baking cookies, I lightly crush sugar coated cereal and add to the cookie batter. It's a great substitute.

I keep a large plastic bag in my cookie jar, and put my cookies in the bag instead of directly into the jar and they stay fresh longer.

MARIAN.

DEAR HELOISE: I remove stains from my table linens caused from food, etc., by pouring undiluted vinegar on each spot, let sit a bit, put the linens in my washing machine as usual and the stains are out!

A.B.C.

Ladies, I poured straight undiluted white vinegar on one stain and it did come out. I do not guarantee this to work on every stain as you might have put other solutions on it before, thus, setting it. But, it's worth a try. You don't have anything to lose but a few spoons of vinegar.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: How do you remove mildew from a rubber bath mat?

I.B.K.

DEAR I.B.K.: I suggest that you fill your sink with HOT water, pour in some household bleach (read directions on the side of the bottle) and let it sit awhile!

After all the mildew marks are gone from the rubber, rinse the mat well.

Fill your sink again with warm water adding 4 tablespoons of ammonia. You don't have to measure the ammonia, just go blop, blop, blop from a bottle (all "blops" are about a spoonful).

Let this soak about 20 minutes or so.

I also suggest that after rinsing of the ammonia solution, you take about one-half cup of vinegar and one-half cup of water and rinse the rubber mat. This also works on many rubber household items such as the rubber-type water hoses we use in washing our hair with, rubber dish drainers, and mats which stay on the drainboard and top of our stoves.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: For mothers with small children:

If two of them are fighting make them start washing windows. One child outside and one child inside.

In no time at all, they will be giggling themselves silly, just watching each other through the window!

JENNY RICKERT.

DEAR HELOISE: Our family has become smaller by two, in the last few months and I find a pound of bacon becomes rancid before we can eat it. However, I still like to have bacon for seasoning wilted lettuce, and to fry once in awhile.

I buy a pound of bacon and put it in our freezer, right in its original package.

As I need bacon I just slice a few strips off the end of our frozen package—from top to bottom—and all the way down the whole pound of bacon and put the rest back in the freezer until I need it.

Bacon seems to last ages without becoming rancid now.

MRS. ELMER THIEL.

Youngsters And Old Folks Of Area Will Dine On Turkey

Holiday feasts are planned for youngsters and old folks alike in district institutions for Thanksgiving.

Nineteen youngsters at the Hancock County Children's Home will dine on turkey and all the trimmings for their dinner Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Ellen Dailey, supervisor, said the menu will include turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, candied sweet potatoes, salad, and pies and other desserts.

Last year, the regular cook at the home quit before Thanksgiving and two volunteers helped stuff six birds for the holiday dinner. Mrs. Eva Cline has been cook at the home for the past three months, and will prepare the meal.

The home is located on Gas Valley Rd. not far from Pughstown. There are 11 girls and eight boys residing at the home.

The traditional turkey dinner will also be served 16 patients at the County Infirmary in Pughstown by Mr. and Mrs. Shields Mayhew, supervisors. The infirmary is located a short distance past the elementary school.

Some 90 residents of the Columbiana County Home near Lisbon have roast turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, lima beans, cranberry sauce, hot rolls and pumpkin pie for Thanksgiving, according to Supt. Russell Phillips.

County Jail inmates will also have roast turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, lima beans and cranberries, with gelatine and cake for dessert.

At present there are 41 prisoners, according to Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan.

Carl Mansfield, superintendent of the Community Rescue Mission on Broadway, said a turkey dinner will be served Thursday at 5 p. m. for transients.
